“ Bob - I am sorry to hear about Debbie. But I know that you know our Lord Jesus and although you grieve, you grieve as one who has a hope that transcends this life. She was married to a good man. Praying the God of all comfort will comfort you and you family in this season.

Yours in Christ,

“ Although I only have a few memories of your sweet sweet soul in your physical body here on earth. I cherish every moment I have spent with Linds and continue to spend with her. Because you are a major piece of her and I see you in her everyday.

May you be rejoicing in the heavens above, as you look down tomorrow and from now on of all who loved you. Knowing you will all be reunited again one day. Rest peacefully

“ Last saw Debbie 2 weeks ago. She had such a happy, bubbly personality. Heaven is a much happier place now with her there, and a sadder place here, Jesus met her when she arrived there, I know that's where she is, and her family will meet up with her again. RIP Debbie, you will be missed here.

“ I have known Debbie for a long time. We were in school together from the first grade through high school graduation. I only saw her a few times after graduation, mostly at reunions. Occasionally I would see something about her in the local paper or my parents would update me. Based on what others have written, Debbie continued to be the sweet, caring person I remember. What I remember most about her was how happy she was to be marrying Robert. It's wonderful to know that she was able to spend so much time with the love of her life. To Robert and her kids, I am so sorry for your loss. She was way too young to go.

“ Debbie was a mixture of southern sass and a tender heart. Her biggest love was teaching children. Years ago she was teaching them about the good Samaritan using stuffed animals and was explaining how the man had been beaten. The children got a little too enthusiastic demonstrating that and she changed the lesson plan. She tenderly coach large groups of children through musicals and plays. She loved on me when I was hurting. She allowed her husband to be the man of God he needed to be. Without her Robert would not have been able to serve so faithfully. She taught me what a good marriage looks like so I could do a better job the 2nd time around. I love you and miss you my friend.

“ Where to start....since 1984 we have been a team. Planning birthday parties, social events, church events, weddings, funerals, OCC, VBS, the list goes on. But if I had to pick one memory, it would have been our last Women's Retreat. We shared a room and stayed up past 2am talking, laughing, crying. I will treasure our friendship forever. I know I will see her again. Rest in Heaven my dearest friend, I love you!
