“ Christy was a friend to us through local doggie-dress-up events through the years. We enjoyed socializing with her at many holidays and fund-raising charity events. She was tough competition! We remember her matching sets of chicken snowmen, and Mexican outfits for her group of dogs and herself. We hope she sees all her beloved pets over the rainbow bridge.

“ Christy loved handbells, and she played them with different church groups at different times. She and I traveled together to Palm Coast to hear her favorite group, The Raleigh Ringers. A year later I happened to run into her at a Raleigh Ringer concert when she was visiting her brother in Franklin, NC. For many years Christy also enjoyed mowing yards and spending time with her plants. She had an amazing ability to identify and care for them. She loved to go out to eat, and treated herself to pizza on occasion. She looked forward to dressing up in costumes with her dogs, and participated in events at Cocoa Village. Rest well, my friend. You'll be in Heaven ringing bells where no one misses a note.

“ I loved talking with Christy. She is so funny plus one of the most helpful person ever. When she used a wheelie to go to Church she was funny. I loved when she would send stories about animals, it always brightened up my day I have lit candles for her at home and will continue so every fall. My next gift to Guiding Eyes for the Blind will go in her name.
I will miss my Facebook friend
