“ I am deeply saddened to have heard of the passing of this treasure of a life that was Freddie Combs. My life along with countless others lives have been enriched to have encountered this great man of God. Two things everyone around him knew. He loved the Lord with all his heart, mind, soul, and strength. A close second was his dear wife Kay. Although life separated us, I always knew Freddie was praying for me. It was because of his prayers and love unconditional, that I was able to be restored. Kay, Sis on behalf of my family, I want to say we are praying for you. One thing that lives on is his memory, his voice, and prayers. They are eternally memorialized. We will see you on the other side of Jordan my dear friend.

“ My deepest sympathy to my friend, Kay Combs & their family. ❤️ You all are in my prayers! My first thought after I heard Freddie had passed away was he is no longer in pain or suffering & he is in the presence of the One he loved the most, our Lord Jesus Christ! Freddie has finally made it home! We have so many wonderful memories to remember him by but no one can fill the void of our precious friend & brother. We will remain strong & faithful to God & we will meet again, my friend, on the other side!

“ I never will forget Freddie's hunger for Jesus and the Holy Ghost. We had some awesome memories in The New Beginning Singers group he started at Mars Hill University! We had many prayer meetings and late night prayer walks for that campus. Freddie was a light of hope for so many. He will never be forgotten. One glorious day we shall all be reunited. To God be all the glory!

“ So many great memories from swim class, prayer meetings, and spontaneous song services at Mars' Hill College--just to name a few. Never a dull moment with Freddie. I'm so glad my children had the chance to meet you and Kay. I'll be seeing you, my friend.

“ I remember the first time I met the Combs. They were the sweetest people. My pastor told me I'd be playing the piano while Brother Combs played the keyboard and sang. I thought What??? Are you sure?? Me??? I asked pastor did you tell him how terrible I play. Surely he doesn't want to play with me! Don't you want someone else. Pastor said no it's you. I had never felt so nauseated or scared in my life! Freddie Combs who was a contestant on the X-factor. But he and his wife were so kind. He never said a word when I messed up....he was amazing at covering all my mistakes. His preaching and singing style took me back to when I was little. He made everyone feel like they were his best friend. Him and his wife were just very sweet people. I love/loved them both. Beck in 2018 just a few days before my daddy died the combs came to preach at the Pentecostals of Sheldon. He wanted to visit my daddy in the hospital. They got there before I did and he sang I will meet you in the morning and then once I got there they were singing amazing grace I was able to record a little of it. I will always cherish that memory. Even though at the time I certainly was terrified to play with Brother Combs I'm so thankful that my pastor Doug Enger pushed me to play with him. It was a privilege and I have videos of me playing with famous Brother Combs. I will miss him. Thank you sister Combs for sharing him with the world. I'm praying for you and I love you!
