

Ms. Michelle Yvette Lacentra

June 17, 1970 - August 17, 2021

Michelle Yvette Torres, age 51, born June 17th 1970 and went to be with her lord on August 17th 2021. No memorial information is posted at this time.

Michelle was born to Frances Joann Torres and Ronald Adam Torres. For many years, she taught at Saturn Elementary as an educator and shaper of young minds. With plans to finish her masters and move onto the college level. She was loved by her students, many of whom have given their condolences even though it's been many years since she taught them.

Michelle Torres was a brilliant educator who shaped some of the youngest mind. She was kind beyond measure and respected people no matter what life they came from. She was a hard worker, holding down three jobs while also taking care of her three children. She moved mountains for her children who she loved very much and devoted much of her life to. Her other jobs also involved helping children. For instance, she worked as a behavioral analyst and helped children struggling with their educational needs.

She had a tendency to pick up the odd job to. Selling for Pampered Chef being just one of the many jobs she did in her spare time. She loved working because she loved doing things and keeping herself busy. During off time, she often took her children out boating or to places like Seaworld.

She had many hobbies. From listening to rock music (The musical notes of Metallica were always celebrated in her home) to trying (and often failing) to learn how to cook for her and her children. She loved to read. Especially old Harlequin romance novels. In her younger years, she was not above a good party and had a hunger to experience life as much as she could. She wasn't without her flaws, but she was a woman who would move things if they were important to her or the people she loved.

She loved True Crime TV shows and Hallmark movies. Shows like Sons of Anarchy or documentaries like Snapped! She was fascinated by true crime shows and enjoyed watching them and figuring out what was going on within them. She had a brilliant mind for those puzzles.

She is survived by her four children and four grandchildren. Her son Tanner Robillard, Arianna Dierking, and Kiersten Dierking. Her Grandchildren, Evelyn Dierking, Asher Robillard, Layla Dierking, and Rory Dierking. She is also survived by her mother Frances Joann Torres and her brother Ronald Adam Torres (The Third). She also leaves behind a large extended family in Florida and in Puerto Rico.
